Data center and auto segments set to fuel next earnings upcycle; Upgrade to Buy; TP up to NT$650

Dual growth engines moving into focus

We are turning more constructive on Silergy and upgrading the stock to Buy from Neutral, as we believe the company is entering a new earnings upcycle driven by 1) stronger-than-expected data centers demand, which we expect to contribute 15-20% of revenue in 2026E (vs. less than 10% in 2025), with further upside into 2027/2028, 2) continued growth in automotive content, with Silergy's dollar content per vehicle expected to more than double in 2026, which in our view should drive auto revenue growth of more than 50% YoY this year, and 3) higher structural GM, supported by more favorable product mix and rising penetration of Gen 4 products, underpinned by strength in auto and data center applications. Overall, we revise up our 2026/2027E earnings by 35-61% and expect 72% earnings CAGR in 2025-2028E.

Growth is now back on track

We believe analog is entering a new upcycle, with demand expanding beyond a purely cyclical rebound. Silergy's growth profile is shifting from a consumer-driven recovery toward a structural story underpinned by auto and data center demand. Management is now confident of achieving at least 20% YoY revenue growth in 2026, returning to its long-term 20-30% growth target after a subdued 2025 (revenue up only 1.9% YoY). Management also highlighted data center and automotive segments as the company's main growth drivers, with new product dollar content ramping faster than expected, supported by higher chip power consumption and strong EV/hybrid EV demand.

Net net, we now forecast Silergy's 2026-2028E revenue to grow 25%/32%/28% YoY, with GM improving to 51.0%/54.8%/55.5%. Following our earnings revisions, we raise our 12m TP to NT$650 from NT$310 (30x 2027E EPS), which implies c.39% upside — we upgrade to Buy from Neutral.

1Q26 GM miss on inventory impairment

Silergy hosted its 1Q26 analyst meeting on May 15. 1Q26 revenue was NT$4,860mn (-9.9% QoQ, +18.7% YoY), which came in slightly above GSe and inline with Bloomberg consensus. In terms of margins, 1Q26 GM of 48.2% (down 2.97ppts QoQ) missed GSe/Bloomberg consensus of 51.9%/51.5%, mainly due to 1) inventory impairment loss, which impacted GM by 1.6ppts, 2) product mix, with higher revenue contribution from PCs and less from auto-related applications, and 3) higher upstream cost with some price hikes seen in 1Q26 from foundry. Looking ahead, management expects the current inventory impairment loss to reverse in future periods as the underlying products are sold through. Overall, Silergy 1Q26 core ops came in largely inline with GSe yet missed Bloomberg consensus by 28%. However, Silergy's 1Q26 EPS of NT$1.98 still came in higher vs. GSe/Bloomberg consensus due to higher non-op gain.

Data center power IC entering a rapid growth phase

We view data centers as Silergy's most important incremental growth driver. Management indicated that data center revenue grew 90% YoY in 1Q26 and reached 15% of total revenue, up from a single-digit contribution in 2025. The main drivers are PMICs used on server motherboards, as well as peripheral applications such as optical modules. For PMICs, management expects dollar content to scale linearly with GPU power consumption, which is more than doubling every three years. In our view, the current ramp in server PMIC solutions is primarily tied to general-purpose server applications for mainland China customers, while AI-related programs are still in the qualification stage and should see more meaningful volume ramp-up from 2027. In optical modules, management now expects content value to rise as the market transitions from 400G to 800G and 1.6T. As power density and board complexity continue to increase, we believe this should support higher power management content per system. Overall, we expect Silergy's server-related revenue exposure to increase rapidly to 15-20% in 2026E, from less than 10% in 2025, with further upside into 2027E and 2028E.

Auto dollar content expansion supports a second structural leg

Beyond data centers, we view automotive as another key structural growth driver for Silergy. Management noted that automotive revenue grew 20% YoY in 1Q26, supported primarily by robust demand from China EV and hybrid platforms, new product launches, and customer share gains. The company expects automotive to account for 15-20% of revenue in 2026, up from 13.6% in 2025. More importantly, Silergy's addressable dollar content per vehicle continues to expand. Management indicated that dollar content had reached around $120 per car by end-2025 and could rise to approximately $250 by end-2026, driven by higher EV and hybrid penetration as well as increasing power management content per vehicle. In our view, this underpins a more durable growth trajectory than a simple cyclical analog recovery, as Silergy is positioned to benefit not only from vehicle production growth but also from rising content per car. Overall, we expect Silergy's automotive business to deliver a 61% CAGR over 2025-2028E, with revenue mix reaching the high-20% range by 2028E.

Margin profile improving as Gen 4 penetration increase

We expect Silergy's GM profile to improve over 2026-2028E despite the weakness seen in 1Q26, driven primarily by a richer mix of higher-margin Gen 4 products. Management indicated that Gen 4 solutions are mainly used in data center and automotive applications, with penetration expected to reach 20% by end-2026 and accelerate further thereafter. We note that Gen 4 products could deliver GM around 5ppt higher than Gen 3. In addition, unlike legacy products that remain exposed to tighter 8-inch wafer capacity, Gen 4 is manufactured on 12-inch wafers, where Silergy appears to have adequate supply. This should become increasingly advantageous as 8-inch capacity tightens further, partly due to AI-related demand crowding out mature-node supply.

Pricing is another potential margin tailwind. Management noted that the company has been able to pass through foundry cost increases and adjust pricing across product lines. It also indicated that, while Silergy's pricing discipline remains solid, it has not seen meaningful pricing pressure from mainland China peers so far this year given tight wafer supply, supporting a more constructive pricing backdrop. Overall, we expect pricing and product mix to improve through 2026-2028E, driving GM to 51.0% / 54.8% / 55.5%, respectively.

Earnings revisions, valuation and risks

Forecast changes: We revise up our 2026-27E EPS estimates by 34.8%/60.5% to factor in 1) 2026 full year guidance, 2) more aggressive capacity expansion plan, 3) share gain into CPU, and 4) contribution from new CPO business.

Upgrade to Buy; TP up to NT$650 from NT$310

We revise up our 12-month TP to NT$650 from NT$310, and our target price is now based on a target P/E of 30x (up from 23x; inline with its historical upcycle P/E) to our 2027E EPS (unchanged). We benchmark our target P/E to the avg. forward P/E in 2017-2021, which is the previous upcycle when revenue growth was back to 30% YoY growth vs. GSe 2025-2028E revenue CAGR of 28% growth. Our new 12-month TP implies 39% upside potential from the current share price (vs. our coverage avg. downside of c.0.5%). We upgrade Silergy to Buy from Neutral rating.

GSe vs consensus

Our 2026/2027/2028E EPS numbers are now 17%/50%/65% higher than Bloomberg consensus, as we believe the market has yet to fully capture the stronger data center and auto content expansion opportunities beyond 2027. Our 2027/2028E GM of 54.8%/55.5% is higher vs. cons. of 53.3%/54.2% mainly driven by higher data center related revenue contribution and price hikes.

Key risks to our views

1) Slower demand recovery: A change in pace of demand recovery would likely result from a change in Silergy's market share or the macroeconomic outlook. Given the nature of fabless company, the operating leverage is very significant when revenue scales up/down. Any end demand recovery change would impact our revenue/earnings growth forecast.

2) Worse-than-expected cost controls: A worse cost control from the company would directly impact the operating margin outlook.

3) Slower progress with new addressable markets: Silergy is expecting its long-term GM to further trend up thanks to ongoing design wins within new growth areas such as automotive, HPC and AI. The progress of design wins would impact its revenue growth profile.

4) An intensifying competition landscape: PMIC industry's competition landscape has always been an investor concern for Silergy given the strong competition from mainland China players and TI. We believe a change in competition landscape would have a significant impact on its market share and pricing power, and thus impact its revenue growth/profitability outlook.

Investment Thesis - Silergy (6415.TW)

Silergy is a leading domestic PMIC design house, and we remain constructive on its long-term growth outlook as the company continues to expand into higher-end applications such as servers/datacenter, HPC, and automotive. We expect Silergy to return to its long-term revenue growth trajectory of 20-30% YoY over the coming years, supported by continued dollar-content expansion in both the datacenter and automotive segments. As revenue contribution from these businesses increases, we believe Silergy's gross margin profile should improve structurally, driven by the rising penetration of margin-accretive Gen 4 solutions. Overall, Silergy is currently trading below its historical upcycle valuation of 30x FY27E P/E, which we view as an attractive entry point. We therefore maintain a Buy rating on the stock.

Price Target Risks and Methodology

Valuation: Our 12m TP is NT$650, based on a target P/E of 30x (inline with its historical upcycle P/E) applied to our 2027E EPS.

Key risks to our views: 1) Slower end-demand recovery, 2) Worse-than-expected cost controls, 3) slower progress with new addressable markets, 4) an intensifying competition landscape, and 5) geopolitical risks.

GS Factor Profile

The Goldman Sachs Factor Profile provides investment context for a stock by comparing key attributes to the market (i.e. our universe of rated stocks) and its sector peers. The four key attributes depicted are: Growth, Financial Returns, Multiple (e.g. valuation) and Integrated (a composite of Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple). Growth, Financial Returns and Multiple are calculated by using normalized ranks for specific metrics for each stock. The normalized ranks for the metrics are then averaged and converted into percentiles for the relevant attribute. The precise calculation of each metric may vary depending on the fiscal year, industry and region, but the standard approach is as follows:

Growth is based on a stock's forward-looking sales growth, EBITDA growth and EPS growth (for financial stocks, only EPS and sales growth), with a higher percentile indicating a higher growth company. Financial Returns is based on a stock's forward-looking ROE, ROCE and CROCI (for financial stocks, only ROE), with a higher percentile indicating a company with higher financial returns. Multiple is based on a stock's forward-looking P/E, P/B, price/dividend (P/D), EV/EBITDA, EV/FCF and EV/Debt Adjusted Cash Flow (DACF) (for financial stocks, only P/E, P/B and P/D), with a higher percentile indicating a stock trading at a higher multiple. The Integrated percentile is calculated as the average of the Growth percentile, Financial Returns percentile and (100% - Multiple percentile).

Financial Returns and Multiple use the Goldman Sachs analyst forecasts at the fiscal year-end at least three quarters in the future. Growth uses inputs for the fiscal year at least seven quarters in the future compared with the year at least three quarters in the future (on a per-share basis for all metrics).

For a more detailed description of how we calculate the GS Factor Profile, please contact your GS representative.

M&A Rank

Across our global coverage, we examine stocks using an M&A framework, considering both qualitative factors and quantitative factors (which may vary across sectors and regions) to incorporate the potential that certain companies could be acquired. We then assign a M&A rank as a means of scoring companies under our rated coverage from 1 to 3, with 1 representing high (30%-50%) probability of the company becoming an acquisition target, 2 representing medium (15%-30%) probability and 3 representing low (0%-15%) probability. For companies ranked 1 or 2, in line with our standard departmental guidelines we incorporate an M&A component into our target price. M&A rank of 3 is considered immaterial and therefore does not factor into our price target, and may or may not be discussed in research.

Ratings, coverage universe and related definitions

Buy (B), Neutral (N), Sell (S) Analysts recommend stocks as Buys or Sells for inclusion on various regional Investment Lists. Being assigned a Buy or Sell on an Investment List is determined by a stock's total return potential relative to its coverage universe. Any stock not assigned as a Buy or a Sell on an Investment List with an active rating (i.e., a stock that is not Rating Suspended, Not Rated, Early-Stage Biotech, Coverage Suspended or Not Covered), is deemed Neutral. Each region manages Regional Conviction Lists, which are selected from Buy rated stocks on the respective region's Investment Lists and represent investment recommendations focused on the size of the total return potential and/or the likelihood of the realization of the return across their respective areas of coverage. The addition or removal of stocks from such Conviction Lists are managed by the Investment Review Committee or other designated committee in each respective region and do not represent a change in the analysts' investment rating for such stocks.

Total return potential represents the upside or downside differential between the current share price and the price target, including all paid or anticipated dividends, expected during the time horizon associated with the price target. Price targets are required for all covered stocks. The total return potential, price target and associated time horizon are stated in each report adding or reiterating an Investment List membership.

Coverage Universe: A list of all stocks in each coverage universe is available by primary analyst, stock and coverage universe at <https://www.gs.com/research/hedge.html>.

Not Rated (NR). The investment rating, target price and earnings estimates (where relevant) are removed pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when Goldman Sachs is acting in an advisory capacity in a merger or in a strategic transaction involving this company, when there are legal, regulatory or policy constraints due to Goldman Sachs' involvement in a transaction, and in certain other circumstances. Early-Stage Biotech (ES). An investment rating and a target price are not assigned pursuant to Goldman Sachs policy when this company has neither a drug, treatment or medical device that has passed a Phase II clinical trial nor a license to distribute a post-Phase II drug, treatment or medical device. Rating Suspended (RS). Goldman Sachs Research has suspended the investment rating and price target for this stock, because there is not a sufficient fundamental basis for determining an investment rating or target price. The previous investment rating and target price, if any, are no longer in effect for this stock and should not be relied upon. Coverage Suspended (CS). Goldman Sachs has suspended coverage of this company. Not Covered (NC). Goldman Sachs does not cover this company.
